How many OIA requests has NZDF received relating to the Manawanui, including the sinking, since 6 October 2024? Please provide me with a copy of all these OIA requests and your responses.

The New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) received 36 requests for information relating to HMNZS Manawanui from 6 October to the date of your request. These requests and their responses are at Enclosure 1. Where the text of the request is not included in the response it is provided immediately before it in the enclosure. What ports (on what dates) did the Manawanui visit during that last voyage?

This information was provided to you in our response dated 2 April.

When did the Manawanui leave Auckland on its final trip (i.e. leading up to the sinking)?

How long was the Manawanui in Samoan waters before the sinking and what work was it undertaking in that time?

How many crew were on board at the time of the sinking?

Were there any media staff on board the Manawanui on that last voyage and if so from what media organisation(s)?

How many regular Manawanui crew were on the ship on 5 October 2024?

A news story reported that "The 75 crew and passengers on board, includ[ed] seven civilians from scientific agencies and four foreign military personnel." How many people were on board the Manawanui on 5 October who were not regular crew?

And for the four foreign military personnel, which country(ies) were they from?

On board HMNZS Manawanui at the time of the sinking were seven civilians. Three civilians were from GNS New Zealand, and four from Metservice New Zealand. Their nationalities are not available. 19 NZDF personnel were on board HMNZS Manawanui who were not crew. More information about this is contained in the Court of Inquiry report. Providing the details of the roles and units of deployed personnel would reveal operational doctrine and methodology if released. Will retired Judge Robert Fisher be a part of the Court of Inquiry into the Navy ship Manawanui sinking 5/10/24? (Given the fact he has been an appointed judge in Ssmoa[sic].)

*What are the reasons for a power outage on an uninsured Navy ship which could prevent the equipment from warning the ship against sailing into shallow water?
Who trained Captain Yvonne Gray to operate the specialized equipment to navigate the seabed?*

Are there back up generators on board our NZDF ships?

Details of the composition of the Court of Inquiry and information concerning the loss of the ship is publicly available on the NZDF website<sup>1</sup>.

As a Court of Inquiry has been convened to investigate the circumstances surrounding the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui, information is withheld in accordance with section 9(2)(ba)(ii) of the OIA to protect the public interest in the effective conduct of the Court. The New Zealand Defence Force intends to make the report of the Court of Inquiry publicly available once complete.

You have the right, under section 28(3) of the OIA, to ask an Ombudsman to review this response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.

Please note that responses to official information requests are proactively released where possible. This response to your request will be published shortly on the NZDF website, with your personal information removed.

Yours sincerely

Enclosure:

1. Dot Point Brief for the Prime Minister on Options for Container Removal and Leak Stopping for Operation Resolution, 15 October 2024

---

Dot Point Brief for the Prime Minister on Options for Container Removal and Leak Stopping for Op RESOLUTION 15 October 2024

---

Overview

- The New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF), as lead agency, has been directed to provide options on removing the three 10ft containers from HMNZS MANAWANUI that are lodged in various parts of the reef off of the south coast of Samoa, no later than commencement of CHOGM on 21 October 2024. The NZDF has also been directed to provide options on stopping leaks from HMNZS MANAWANUI.
- The planning for these directed tasks has been primarily conducted by the NZDF in order to meet the rapid timelines, s. 6(a) [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Input from the scientific community (from MBIE and NIWA) is being considered in parallel with course of action development, environmental impact considerations are provided with each option.
- Consultation with the Government of Samoa is needed before any plan is enacted, to ensure they are fully briefed on the benefits and risks and give their consent to the course of action.

Container Removal

- Two of the three containers are empty, with the third containing approximately 3000kgs of food. The containers are not watertight and have sustained some structural damage.
- Two primary options have been planned, each with a subset as outlined below:
- Surface Removal. Two surface removal options have been considered and these are:
  - Partial flotation and tow to the beach by commercial contractor (this is the preferred option and will be taken forward for development and execution).
  - Partial flotation and tow to the open ocean for recovery by RNZN or commercial vessel. (not progressed for the reasons given below).
  - General Considerations:
    - For bringing containers ashore, Samoan Customs and Quarantine Officials yet to determine biosecurity disposal of food items in the remaining container – engagement is ongoing with High Commission in Apia indicating this can be approved with their assistance.
    - The commercial provider would handle all requirements of getting the containers off of the reef and safely ashore, with the NZDF responsible for movement from the beach to final location and assesses one day for preparation, and one day per container to remove.

- For the deeper-water option, the southern coast of Samoa is not well sheltered from the prevailing weather conditions making it unlikely that conditions will allow CANTERBURY, or possibly any other commercial vessel, to conduct crane operations to recover the containers once they are seaward and out of the relative shelter of the reef.
- Environmental Impact Considerations:
  - Physical damage to the reef risks:
  - Damage arising from moving the container, or accessing the container, including placing lifting equipment under or around the container.
  - Risk of damage to the reef or the biodiversity of the reef from collision and/or contact from vessels working near the reef edge.
  - Structural failure of the container, increasing damage to the reef including its biodiversity through need to collect larger number of parts.
- Pollution risks:
  - Dispersal of container contents through failure or leakage of the container. This could lead to decomposing food, multiple types of waste, inc. plastic waste entering the reef washing up on the shore.
  - Complete or partial structural failure of containers leading to parts of the container drifting in the reef, possible contaminants from container insulation.
  - Any refrigeration materials being exposed to the environment.
- Risks:
  - Commercial Health and Safety procedures are not yet known for both options.
  - Reputational risk if further damage to the reef is caused during removal due to surf and breakers slamming containers back into the reef.
  - The weather conditions are a risk with this option as they may not be conducive for recovery if successfully floated and removed to seaward.
  - For a shore recovery, the option would be wholly commercial, and NZDF would lose tactical control of the task, and the commercial operator would use their own procedures and have to plan to minimise further damage to the reef.
- Feasibility:
  - Commercial provider has advised both tasks are feasible within current capability, noting impacts from weather and potential damage to the reef in the process.

- This is the same provider that recovered MANAWANUI's RHIBS (small boats) from the beach s. 9(2)(g)(i) [REDACTED]
  - Feasibility of recovering the containers to seaward is unlikely due to lack of shelter from prevailing conditions.
- Aerial removal utilising either an NZDF NH-90 helicopter s. 6(b)(i) [REDACTED] (not progressed due to assessed high risk outlined below).
  - Considerations:
    - NH-90 maximum underslung lift is 2400kgs. s. 6(b)(i) [REDACTED]
      - Dry container assessed as approximately 1200kgs, with the food refrigeration container assessed as 2000kgs (with 3000kgs of food within). Additional water weight on initial lift is up to 7500kgs.
    - s. 6(b)(i) [REDACTED]
  - Environmental Impact Considerations:
    - Physical damage to the reef risks:
      - Damage arising from moving the container, or accessing the container, including placing lifting equipment under or around the container.
      - Structural failure of the container, increasing damage to the reef including its biodiversity through need to collect larger number of parts.
    - Pollution risks:
      - Dispersal of container contents through failure or leakage of the container. This could lead to decomposing food, multiple types of waste, inc. plastic waste entering the reef washing up on the shore.
      - Complete or partial structural failure of containers leading to parts of the container drifting in the reef, possible contaminants from container insulation.
      - Any refrigeration materials being exposed to the environment.
  - Risks:
    - This is a complex air operation over water, which needs to consider sea-state, wind, and tide conditions on the day the recovery is attempted.
    - The container weights are negatively amplified by water and/or sand/silt from time on the reef, which need to be factored into lift calculations. There is also the potential for the containers, especially the one which still has food in it, to be structurally damaged such that they could break apart in the air, further damaging the reef on impact, or causing a safety incident for the helicopter while in flight.

- The compressed timelines for execution place additional risk to ensure all factors are considered and understood prior to execution.
- Risk for NZDF NH-90 option assessed as HIGH due to the lift weight exceeding operating limitations of the airframe.
- s. 6(b)(i)

- Feasibility:

- NZDF feasibility assessment is LOW based on the potential weight of the containers with water weight considerations being in excess of the NH-90 safe airworthiness limitations.
- s. 6(b)(i)

- The next steps in container removal:

- The option to contract local company to float and tow the containers to the beach will now be progressed.
- The next step is for this option to be socialised with both the Government of Samoa and the Ship Owners' Club Surveyor.
- Subject to all parties' acceptance of this course of action, the NZDF will execute this plan.

Leak Stopping

- Consistent reporting has seen a small leak evident from the engineering vents in the funnel, above the engineering spaces. The exact nature of what comprises this leak is still to be determined but could be from residual diesel fuel in the pipework, or remnants of the liquid in MANAWANUI's engine-room bilge which is slowly being released. The slow leak is independently assessed by the International Tanker Oil Pollution Federation (ITOPF) representative as a LOW risk to the environment.
- Consideration into stemming the flow or plugging the leak has been on-going. It is not as simple as purely 'plugging' the leak, as this could cause the fuel to divert to multiple other release points elsewhere in the funnel exhaust casing or ship, resulting in the same release of fuel from different points. Advice from both the Surveyor and ITOPF representatives on scene is that the discharge may be better being mitigated than rather than an attempt made to 'plug' it.
- Mitigation would include continuous monitoring (already underway) to determine if the volume increases, decreases, or remains steady, as well as continuous beach patrols to observe conditions on the ground.

- s. 6(a)
[REDACTED]
- Given the potential for more serious discharges or environmental impacts if the leak is plugged, the Samoan Government would also need to consent to this decision and be fully informed of the potential risks.
- The Surveyor continues his assessment to develop options for the removal of the remaining fuel and liquids in MANAWANUI, as well as reef assessment and potential recovery requirements. This will take time and involves the Ship Owners' Club utilising commercial means, including tenders and contracts to subject matter experts, familiar with recovery and rectification from incidents of this nature.
s. 9(2)(g)(i)
[REDACTED]
- A second oil release from the aft section has been observed and confirmed to come from the Port thruster oil tank vent. Divers are preparing to bag the identified vent to cease oil release. This is assessed as a low-risk option.
- The NZDF team on the ground, and back in New Zealand are in continuous contact with the Surveyor, Ships Owners' Club and ITOPF on the way ahead, and are assisting the industry experts in what's required for the resolution of this incident.
- The Marine Pollution Action Committee met this morning, 15 October, and the ITOPF representative attended and briefed Samoan officials from an independent perspective. While we await feedback from the meeting, it is anticipated that this brief will assist to alleviate concerns of pollution and long-term impact to the environment. The ITOPF representative has advised that terminology-wise it is a fuel sheen on the water, and not an oil slick.
- NZDF personnel remain on standby in New Zealand to respond if the situation deteriorates with a major spill. However, the team on the ground continue daily beach surveys with local authorities, and still have not found any evidence of pollution or fuel spill impact on the shoreline. Flotsam continues to be collected as it makes landfall.
- Maritime New Zealand advised yesterday that personal protective equipment (PPE) stores requested last week be cancelled due to oil flow and drift modelling showing that it is unlikely to be required. They have additionally advised that the spill-response containers and majority of the bulk equipment embarked in HMNZS CANTERBURY, is not disembarked in Samoa, and returns to New Zealand undisturbed. This is based on current modelling of what has been observed thus far, and future changes anticipated in environmental conditions. This recommendation has had ITOPF and Surveyor engagement.

Considerations and Recommendations

- The NZDF, having considered the options presented for container removal, will focus on executing the commercial option that sees the containers floated and towed from the reef to shore. NZDF personnel in Samoa have been directed to communicate this option, and the associated environmental risks, to the Government of Samoa, the Surveyor, and all relevant parties, to ensure concurrence.

RELEASED UNDER THE OFFICIAL INFORMATION ACT 1982

- This recommendation is primarily based on being the most expeditious method of container removal, however it must be noted that this option comes with the potential environmental risks noted in this brief.
- s. 9(2)(g)(i)

- Prior to execution of this option, the plan to float and tow the containers to shore will be ratified by the Surveyor and Samoan Officials. The projected timeline for completion of removal of the three containers is being worked through. However, the contractor indicates one day of preparation is required, and one day to remove each of the containers. Assuming Government of Samoa concurrence on 16 October, and agreeable weather, the containers could be clear of the reef by 20 October.
- s. 6(a)

- In respect to the engine room vent leak, the current advice from industry experts, and the Interagency Task Force, is to continue to monitor and mitigate, rather than plug the known leak, which risks making the situation worse. The focus from the Surveyor and ITOPF representative is on the long-term removal of the fuel-oil liquids from MANAWANUI safely in accordance with industry best-practice.

Dear s.9(2)(a)

I refer to your email of 29 November 2024 requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA):

1. Request a copy of all advice to minister regarding the $360M of operating savings required in FY25/26.
  - 1A. What is the driver(s) of these operating cost overruns?
  - 1B. How much of these overruns are attributed to the PB operating costs or the Manawanui recovery & replacement.
2. When was this information passed to the minister of Defence?
3. Aside from the $50M to be found from personnel savings, from where else will the remaining $310M be found?
  - 3A. Other than taking $50M from personnel savings, what other options were considered?
  - 3B. Request copies of the briefing pack & decision papers that were presented to EXCO & CDF for the specific board at which this decision was made.
4. Are any capabilities being reviewed for divestment. If so, which ones?
5. What provision has been made for pay increases for uniformed staff in FY25/26?

The requested information concerns preparations for Budget 2025 that remain ongoing and information continues to be provided to the Minister of Defence. It is therefore withheld in accordance with section 9(2)(f)(iv) of the OIA. In the weeks following Budget day, advice underpinning decisions is made public.

As you may be aware, work is underway on options for a new Defence Capability Plan. Information concerning any capabilities is therefore also withheld in accordance with section 9(2)(f)(iv) of the OIA.

Dear s.9(2)(a)

I refer to your email of 2 December 2024 requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA), a copy of the interim report from the Court of Inquiry held into the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui.

You have the right, under section 28(3) of the OIA, to ask an Ombudsman to review this response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.

Noted thanks,

The links to information on the NZDF website do not address the questions I have asked which is why I've asked them.

For example, your advice to me is that my questions about the time the 1st and last crew members abandoned ship is still being considered by the COI and therefore the information cannot be released.

Is this correct as an example?

Good morning s.9(2)(a)

The response of 13 December 2024 is quite clear, but to avoid any confusion the following summary may be of assistance:

- part 1 of your request is addressed directly;
- parts 2 – 20 of your request are addressed by providing a link to information on the New Zealand Defence Force website. Where relevant information is not available it is declined for the reason provided. Specifically addressing each point of your request will not occur as details on matters being considered by the Court of Inquiry are not official information and will not be provided. Providing or not providing specific information would prejudice the undertakings of the Court of Inquiry which is why section 9(2)(ba)(ii) of the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA) has been cited.

In hindsight, specifically addressing part 21 of your request could be included and that is addressed now. The interim report of the Court of inquiry is not authorised for release by the Chief of Navy under section 200T of the Armed Forces Discipline Act 1971, as the Court of Inquiry remains ongoing. No link to the interim report exists, therefore this part of your request is declined in accordance with section 18(e) of the OIA.

With respect to your claim that NZDF have stated that all OIA requests are denied due to the potential impact on the Court of Inquiry, the New Zealand Defence Force has not stated that all requests for information concerning HMNZS Manawanui are declined.

All requests for information are considered individually, and decisions are based on the information being requested.

Hi again,

Did you receive my question that given that NZDF have stated that all OIA requests are denied due to the potential impact on the Court of Inquiry, and you are now advising that the COI will conclude EO Feb 2025, is it correct that all OIA requests will be denied on that basis, and the questions will remain unanswered until Feb-March '25?

Is this correct?

Good afternoon s.9(2)(a)

With respect to your questions in the email below of 11:02am, the Chief of Navy has not authorised release of the interim report of the Court of Inquiry under section 200T of the Armed Forces Discipline Act 1971, as the investigation remains ongoing. The Court of Inquiry process has not yet been completed.

As noted on the New Zealand Defence Force website, the final report is expected to be completed around the end of February and be released publicly by late March.

Can you or Ministerial Services please advise when the initial report from the COI will be released?

According to NZDF advice in response to OIA request, the report will be released to the public on completion of the COI.

This is now complete so the report should be released.

What is the date for the release?

Dear s.9(2)(a)

I refer to your email of 29 November 2024 to the Ministry of Defence requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA), information about the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui. Your request was transferred to the New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) on 4 December 2024 in accordance with the OIA and was duly acknowledged on 6 December 2024.

You have specifically asked for the following:

1. Please provide a link to NZ Navy abandon ship protocol
2. Where on the ship was the Commander of the vessels in the 15 minutes prior to, and up to the ships initial grounding at approx 6:15pm

5. What time was the last crew member able to abandon ship
6. Was the Commander of the vessel the last crew member to abandon ship
7. What time did the Commander of the vessel physically abandon ship
8. Whose responsibility is it to secure the ships log before abandoning ship
9. At what time was the last entry made into the ships log
10. What was the information logged into the ships log at that time
11. Is the Commander of the vessel required to check that the ships log is secure before abandoning ship
12. At what stage did the Commander of the vessel realise that the ships log was lost / unaccounted for
13. At what stage were the Navy and/or investigators advised that the ships log was lost / unaccounted for
14. Was the Commander of the vessel questioned about the ships log prior to the UK Navy's recovery of the ships log on 17 October
15. If the Commander of the vessel was questioned about the ships log prior to it's recovery on 17th October, was the Commander able to explain why the ships log had been lost
16. Was the Minister advised that the ships log was lost prior to it's recovery by the UK Navy on 17th October
17. Had the NZ Navy identified the need to search for the ships log prior to it's recovery by the UK Navy on 17th October

18. Were the NZ Navy searching for the ships log prior to it being recovered by the UK Navy on 17th October
19. Where on the ship was the ships log found by the UK Navy on 17th October
20. Why was the loss of the ships log only reported after it was recovered by the UK Navy and reported by them on 17th October
21. Please provide a link to the written interim report on the sinking of the Manawanui

A link is not available to the NZ Navy abandon ship protocol. Details of Royal New Zealand Navy operational procedures are withheld in full in accordance with section 6(a) of the OIA.

A large amount of information concerning the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui has been proactively released on the NZDF website.<sup>1</sup>

The Court of Inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui is ongoing. Information is therefore withheld in accordance with section 9(2)(ba)(ii) of the OIA to protect the public interest in the effective conduct of the Court of Inquiry. The NZDF intends to make the report of the Court of Inquiry publicly available once complete.

You have the right, under section 28(3) of the OIA, to ask an Ombudsman to review this response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.

Please note that responses to official information requests are proactively released where possible. This response to your request will be published shortly on the NZDF website, with your personal information removed.

all correspondence, between October 4 and today between NZDF/NZ Navy and Kongsberg about Kongsberg systems on NZ Defence Force ships including the Manawanui?

OIA-2024-5228

 February 2025

@tvnz.co.nz

Dear

I refer to your email of 5 December 2024 requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA):

The (winning) salvage proposal for the HMNZS Manawanui. I understand the company is Pacific Seven. I am assuming the process/costs etc are contained within that document but if they are not I would like that too.

The tender process relating to the removal of fuel and other pollutants from HMNZS Manawanui was carried out by New Zealand Defence Force's (NZDF) insurer, Shipowners' Club. A summary of the received tenders was provided to the NZDF for a decision.

The salvage company selected by the NZDF was Pacific 7 Limited. The tender proposals and the summary are withheld in full in accordance with section 9(2)(b)(ii) of the OIA, as making this information public would be likely to prejudice the commercial position of the insurer.

The process includes a risk-based approach to removing bulk fuels, oils, and contaminants. This commenced with a simple assessable fuel tank to prove the systems and approach, then progressed to tanks which represented the highest potential for discharge. The smaller more difficult to access tanks will be assessed last, with some requiring complex approaches to gain access to tapping points within the vessel. Video monitoring systems were in place to track fuel pumping progress with divers on stand-by should a hose connection or tapping point fail.

You have the right, under section 28(3) of the OIA, to ask an Ombudsman to review this response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.

Dear [Redacted]

I refer to your email of 9 December 2024 to the Office of Rt Hon Christopher Luxon requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA):

"(...) daily medical records of all on the Manawanui, names redacted of course."

Your request was transferred to the New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) in accordance with section 14 of the OIA as the nature of your request is more closely aligned with the functions of the NZDF.

Personnel medical records are withheld in full in accordance with section 9(2)(a) of the OIA to protect privacy. The public interest in providing this information does not outweigh the reasons to withhold it in this instance.

You have the right, under section 28(3) of the OIA, to ask an Ombudsman to review this response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.

Hello,

Yes I note that you have stopped posting updates on OIA requests re Manawanui, and that my OIA request hasnt been added to the list despite it being lodged in November 2024

I also note that 100% of the requests have been declined and that you state "a large amount of information has been released and is available on the NZDF website".

Looking at the NZDF website I can see a large amount of information there.

Can you provide me the links to the large amount of information that has been provided there?

Thanks

Is this correct or not please? as I'm getting confused by the messages

Dear s.9(2)(a)

Your request for information from 19 December was transferred to the New Zealand Defence Force as the information was operational. I will now respond to your follow up question:

You also mention "wording" so are you able to kindly advise me please on what words are allowed and what words may retard the progress of my OIA requests please, as I would like to ensure I use the correct words so that my OIA requests are processed.

I regret that my 19 December response may have been misleading. To be clear, OIA requests are responded to on a case-by-case basis depending on the particular topic of the request and who holds the material.

This office does not hold information around what words are or are not allowed in OIA requests so I am unable to answer your question, as the information does not exist.

I encourage you to just submit your request for information and it will be triaged accordingly.

Kind regards.

HI NZDF, according to Erica's reply below you are best placed to answer the question about words. Apparently some of the words I used in my OIA requests are not allowed. I've tried to find out which words are not allowed but Erica says NZDF has to answer which words are not allowed so I can resubmit my request with new words.

Can NZDF advise which words I used are not allowed words please? Is there a list of words I can refer to that are allowed / not allowed words?

Thanks

Dear s.9(2)(a)

Please find below a brief response to your follow up questions.

As I noted in my original response to you on 19 December, the New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) will respond to you within the timeframes mandated in the Official Information Act (OIA). Most HMNZS Manawanui queries are transferred to the New Zealand Defence Force, as they are the lead government agency for this matter. I cannot comment on what information the NZDF will or won't release under OIA requests.

When requests for HMNZS Manawanui related information are received by my office, consultation with the NZDF is undertaken to ensure any release of information will not prejudice the Court of Inquiry process. The NZDF holds the responsibility for deciding what information can and cannot be released at this stage.

I do not have any further information to share with you on how OIA requests for HMNZS Manawanui information are managed. Please direct any future requests regarding HMNZS Manawanui to the NZDF.

Kind regards,
Erica

Hi Erica,

Thank you for your reply as after so many emails I was starting to wonder if you might have gone on Christmas already. Would you be so kind to let me know please when your office is closing for Christmas? and when it is opening again please?

Will it be possible to get your guidance to me questions before you go on what is a well deserved holiday?

In your reply you mention certain advice about what you have accepted you should reply to, and some other information you are transferring to NZDF. Can you please clarify for me which information is being transferred and which information you will be responding to yourself please?.

And you mention in *due course, can you please advise please what does course actually means please?

Hello Samson,

Thank you for your email of 6 December wherein you asked the following:

Following the Court of Inquiry (COI) and the subsequent release of information regarding the grounding and sinking of the Manawanui, I have seen various posts online that imply that OIA information requests are being refused so that the COI can run it's course.

I've also noted that NZDF is undertaking further investigation such that the COI is ongoing, with completion at the end of Feb '25.

Can you advise whether information requested via OIA, regarding the events immediately leading up to the grounding, and the grounding and sinking will be withheld due to the COI process?.

The information in questions is specifically related to the grounding and sinking as per phase 1 of the COI, rather than the causes which what has been advised are the basis for the current phase of the COI.

Your email has been treated as a request under the Official Information Act 1982 (the OIA).

Most of the information you requested is operational, and as such I am partially transferring your request to the New Zealand Defence Force pursuant to section 14(b)(ii) of the OIA. The NZDF will respond to you separately in due course.

With regard to OIA requests received directly by my office, the approach to each response has been on a case by case basis depending on the specific wording of each request.

You also mention "wording" so are you able to kindly advise me please on what words are allowed and what words may retard the progress of my OIA requests please, as I would like to ensure I use the correct words so that my OIA requests are processed.

Is there a dictionary of OIA words that are allowed? or is it up to the individual looking at the OIA requests to decide which words are allowed?

If it is your decision in looking at my OIA request, can you please advise me which words are acceptable to ensure the OIA information is provided please, and which ones I should remove so I can then resubmit my OIA request with the correct ones or removing the ones that are not allowed?

Thank you so much and please do kindly let me know when you think you might have a chance to respond to my questions that I hope are not incorrect or inconvenient?

Thanks and hopefully I can hear from you before a jolly Christmas !!

Most of the information you requested is operational, and as such I am partially transferring your request to the New Zealand Defence Force pursuant to section 14(b)(ii) of the OIA. The NZDF will respond to you separately in due course.

With regard to OIA requests received directly by my office, the approach to each response has been on a case by case basis depending on the specific wording of each request.

You have the right to ask the Ombudsman to investigate and review my decision under section 28(3) of the Act.

Subject: Manawanui sinking OIA

Greetings Minister,

Following the Court of Inquiry (COI) and the subsequent release of information regarding the grounding and sinking of the Manawanui, I have seen various posts online that imply that OIA information requests are being refused so that the COI can run it's course.

I've also noted that NZDF is undertaking further investigation such that the COI is ongoing, with completion at the end of Feb '25.

Can you advise whether information requested via OIA, regarding the events immediately leading up to the grounding, and the grounding and sinking will be withheld due to the COI process?.

The information in questions is specifically related to the grounding and sinking as per phase 1 of the COI, rather than the causes which what has been advised are the basis for the current phase 2 of the COI.

Nga mihi

OIA-2025-5260

28 February 2025

s.9(2)(a)

@nzme.co.nz

Dear s.9(2)(a)

I refer to your email of 3 February 2025 requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA),

All internal and external correspondence regarding the tender process and awarding of a contract to salvage companies for the removal of fuel from the HMNZS Manawanui.

All information and documentation detailing concerns raised regarding the company (and or companies) selected or considered to undertake work on the sunken vessel.

Any cost benefit analysis or similar documentation relating to the tender process and awarding of a contract to companies engaged in the work.

The tender process relating to the removal of fuel and other pollutants from HMNZS Manawanui was carried out by New Zealand Defence Force's (NZDF) insurer, Shipowners' Club. A summary of the received tenders was then provided to the NZDF for a decision.

The tender proposals, summary, and advice provided by Shipowners' Club to the NZDF are withheld in full in accordance with sections 9(2)(b)(ii) of the OIA, as making this information public would be likely to prejudice the commercial position of the insurer.

Relevant emails cannot currently be extracted from the NZDF email archive system. There is no timeframe available for when this may be resolved. In order to identify relevant correspondence, all known personnel involved would have to retrieve emails from their own inboxes, if they are still held. This would require a substantial research and collation effort for all involved and this part of your request is therefore declined in accordance with section 18(f) of the OIA. A small number of emails have been saved separately, however, and these are withheld in full in accordance with sections 9(2)(b)(ii), 9(2)(g)(i) and 9(2)(h) of the OIA. This is because they also contain some of the information withheld for the same reason as explained above, as well as to maintain the effective conduct of public affairs through the provision of free and frank advice by public officials in the course of their duties, and legal professional privilege respectively.

You have the right, under section 28(3) of the OIA, to ask an Ombudsman to review this response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.

Please note that responses to official information requests are proactively released where possible. This response to your request will be published shortly on the NZDF website, with your personal information removed.

Yours sincerely

Dear Troy McClure

I refer to your email of 19 February 2025 to the Ministry of Defence requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA), the following information:

access to all communications relating to the HMNZS Manawanui and Yvonne Gray for the year 2025. Specifically, I request any and all written, electronic, and other communications, including but not limited to emails, letters, memos, meeting notes, or any other relevant documents, between the following individuals:

Judith Collins, Minister of Defence

Rear Admiral Garin Golding, Chief of Navy Chris Luxon, Prime Minister The timeframe for these communications should cover all correspondence during the year 2025.

To clarify, I am seeking:

Any discussions regarding the operational status, maintenance, deployment, or any other operational matters concerning the HMNZS Manawanui.

Any communications related to Yvonne Gray in connection with the HMNZS Manawanui (e.g., roles, decisions, reports, or contributions).

Any planning, decision-making, or policy related to the vessel or individuals that involve the Ministry of Defence, the New Zealand Navy, or the Prime Minister's Office.

Any advice, reports, or recommendations from or to these individuals regarding the HMNZS Manawanui or Yvonne Gray.

Your request was transferred to the New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) in accordance with section 14(b)(i) of the OIA.

A large amount of information concerning the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui has been proactively released on the NZDF website<sup>1</sup>.

A Court of Inquiry has been convened to investigate the circumstances surrounding the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui. The requested information is therefore withheld in accordance with section 9(2)(ba)(ii) of the OIA, in order to protect the public interest in the effective conduct of the Court of Inquiry. The NZDF intends to make the report of the Court of Inquiry publicly available once complete.

Dear Sarah Boyle, and Cameron Burrows,

I've read the transcript. Nowhere does it mention why the Manawanui was in foriegn waters.
So under the Official Information Act I further request an answer.

The transcript states the navy ship was surveying. But why was it surveying in FORIEGN waters? If it was at request of Samoa then the Samoan govt must accept some risk and damage that may have occurred.

So under Oia, I ask again, " why was the Manawanui in foriegn Alien waters?"

Yours seriously

Dear Steve Morse

I refer to your email of 26 March 2025 requesting, information on New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) social media policies, and social media engagement on the sinking of HMNZS Manawanui. Your request has been considered under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA), and a response to the various parts of your request is set out below.

I understand that the official accounts of the NZDF and NZ Navy have banned/blocked a number of New Zealanders from commenting on NZDF and Navy social articles on Facebook and Twitter ('X.com'), over criticism of the Navy's scuttling of HMNZS Manawanui and poisoning of Samoa's fisheries.

1) Does the NZDF or Navy have policies or guidelines around what purpose officially run social media accounts serve? If so, please provide the text of said policies.

The use of official NZDF social media channels is informed by the NZDF Public Affairs Strategy and governed by Defence Force Instruction 7.2. Both documents are publicly available on the NZDF website<sup>1 2</sup>. This part of your request is therefore declined in accordance with section 18(d) of the OIA.

2) Does the NZDF or Navy have policies or guidelines around under what situations those offering criticism of, for example, Capt Gray's choice to poison the waters of Tafitoala, would be banned or blocked from engaging in public discourse around NZDF & Navy actions? If so, please provide the text of said policies.

The NZDF does not have specific policies or guidelines to manage social media engagement on the HMNZS Manawanui sinking. All engagement is managed in accordance with the NZDF social media community guidelines, which are published on the NZDF website<sup>3</sup>. If these guidelines have been breached, the team that manages the social media channels will remove the comment or block the account.

3) How many accounts have been banned or blocked from NZDF and Army/Navy/Air Force social media accounts, tabulated by social media site and organization?

The number of users blocked on actively managed NZDF social media channels, as at 26 March 2025, is provided in the table below. Note, the NZDF retains Service profiles across all listed platforms, but does not actively use or manage Service channels other than Facebook.

Steven Morse
fyi-request-30533-685abb0a@requests.fyi.org.nz

Dear Stephen Morse

I refer to your email of 15 April 2025 requesting, under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA), further information regarding your previous request (OIA-2025-5324):

...I am making a further request as to whether the NZDF retains any record of why and for what material/reasons it bans New Zealanders from commenting on NZDF actions on social media channels, whether in the form of a spreadsheet, or in the form of email communications to a group inbox or supervisor, or in whatever other way it may be retained. Should they exist, I am also requesting these records in electronic form (not as a summary).

On the other hand, if NZDF personnel simply arbitrarily ban those who politely criticize the likes of its environmental terrorism against Samoa without retaining any records of why it does so, please make that clear.

The New Zealand Defence Force (NZDF) does not retain a record of reasons for blocking any given user. Your request is therefore declined in accordance with section 18(e) of the OIA because the information does not exist. While the right to block users is reserved, blocking is not done arbitrarily. It is a last resort tool that is rarely used and then only in relation to egregious or repeated violations of community guidelines.

Only a small team of experienced professionals have permission to block users on NZDF channels. That team has no record or recollection of a user being blocked because of polite criticism. You will find examples of criticism ranging from polite to robust across the NZDF's social media presence.

You have the right, under section 28(3) of the OIA, to ask an Ombudsman to review this response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at www.ombudsman.parliament.nz or freephone 0800 802 602.
